The Enrique Hurtado de Mendoza Collection

An Exhibition of Books, Manuscripts and Genealogical Charts

The Enrique Hurtado de Mendoza Collection is a unique research collection of thousands of books, handwritten and typed letters, photos and other primary documents relating to Cuba and Cuban genealogy, collected over four decades by Felix Enrique Hurtado de Mendoza.

“This is an extraordinary addition to our collection. We are proud to be the custodians of this rich collection of the family and cultural history of Cuba and its diaspora. Our long-term vision is to create a public Center for Cuban Genealogy, but need support from the community to make this a reality.”

Laura Probst, FIU Dean of Libraries

“Among the surprises we found are hundreds of sacramental and civil documents, unpublished Archive of the Indies records and beautiful old photographs of Cuban families,”

Lourdes del Pino, Cuban Genealogy Club
