This documentary, produced by Univision 23, tells the story of the men and women who in search of freedom and opportunities started fleeing the Cuban Communist Regime half a century ago. Most came with very few material possessions, but with the will to succeed and remember the land of their birth. Univision 23 honors the Cuban-American community with this film which focuses on its achievements through 50 years of tears, nostalgia and the unrelenting dream of returning home.

Film is in Spanish with English sub-titles; Plenary session in English
