FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

THE 23rd ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE STUDY OF THE CUBAN ECONOMY
WILL TAKE PLACE AUGUST 1-3 IN MIAMI

Reforming Cuba?

The Association for the Study of the Cuban Economy (ASCE) will hold its 23rd Annual Conference at the Hilton Miami Downtown Hotel (1601 Biscayne Boulevard) from Thursday, August 1 through Saturday, August 3, 2013. The conference will focus on recent developments in the economic, political and social situation in Cuba and the challenges for the future. The overall theme is "Reforming Cuba?"

We anticipate a record number of conference attendees from the island itself this year, including the economists Armando Nova (Centro de Estudios de la Economía Cubana) and Karina Gálvez (Convivencia magazine), computer science professor José Luiz Leyva Cruz (University of Camagüey), Lenier González and Roberto Viega co-editors of Espacio Laical, the historian and political scientist Armando Chaguaceda (University of Veracruz), the independent lawyer Laritza Diversent (Jurisconsulto de Cuba), and the mathematician and Estado de Sats coordinator Antonio Rodiles. We also anticipate welcoming Yociel Marrero and René Gómez Manzano.

In all, approximately one-hundred economists, social scientists, and other experts from Cuba, the United States, and other countries will present their work on the policy challenges facing Cuba, including: the ongoing political, social and economic changes; agricultural policies; banking, credit and tax policies; revisions to the civil code, property rights and foreign investment; labor conditions, self employment and micro-enterprises; the Cuban Diaspora, remittances and private micro-investments and tourism; health conditions, biotechnology and Cuban international medical missions; energy and petroleum; education; bloggers and the impact of the Internet; and Cuba-Venezuela relations.

George J. Borjas, the Robert W. Scrivner Professor of Economics and Social Policy at the Harvard Kennedy School will deliver the Ernesto Betancourt Keynote Address at the official conference luncheon on Friday. Accredited journalists are welcomed to attend the conference and the registration fee is waived (though the luncheon costs $50).

The Association for the Study of the Cuban Economy is a non-profit, non-political organization incorporated in the state of Maryland in 1990 affiliated with the American Economic Association and the Allied Social Sciences Association. The primary mission of the Association is to study the transition to a free market economy and an open society in Cuba, as well as to promote scholarship, research, and make available publications by its members. ASCE supports a broad range of research which focuses primarily on economic developments but also pays due attention to the social, legal, demographic and environmental problems.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

La Vigésima Tercera Reunión de la Asociación Para El Estudio de la Economía Cubana Se Dará del 1º al 3º de agosto en Miami

¿Reformando a Cuba?

La Asociación para el Estudio de la Economía Cubana (ASCE) anuncia que su Vigésima Tercera Conferencia Anual tendrá lugar en el hotel Hilton Miami Downtown, 1601 Biscayne Boulevard, Florida, USA del jueves 1 al sábado 3 de agosto de 2013. El programa, cuyo tema es “¿Reformando a Cuba?” incluye dos días y medio de sesiones sobre la situación política, económica y social en Cuba y los desafíos para el futuro.

Anticipamos un número record de conferencistas que vienen directamente de Cuba este año, incluyendo a los economistas Armando Nova (Centro de Estudios de la Economía Cubana) y Karina Gálvez (Convivencia), profesor de informática José Luiz Leyva Cruz (Universidad de Camagüey), Lenier González y Roberto Viega co-editores de Espacio Laical, el historiador y politólogo Armando Chaguaceda (Universidad de Veracruz), la abogada independiente Laritza Diversent (Jurisconsulto de Cuba), y el coordinador de Estado de Sats Antonio Rodiles. Además, anticipamos la participación de Yociel Marrero y René Gómez Manzano.

Aproximadamente 100 expertos provenientes de Cuba, los Estados Unidos y de otros países harán presentaciones sobre la situación actual en Cuba, centrándose en los retos que se le presentan a las autoridades con respecto a las políticas económicas en el contexto de la crisis global, los cambios políticos, sociales y económicos internos, y las reformas que se están efectuando; el impacto de las políticas agrícolas; cambios en las políticas bancarias, de crédito e impositivas; modificaciones a los derechos de propiedad y la inversión extranjera; las condiciones laborales, el trabajo por cuenta propia y las actividades de las micro-empresas; la diáspora, las remesas y las implicaciones para las micro-empresas y el turismo; el sector energético; la situación del sector de educación; los blogueros y su impacto en el Internet; y la relaciones de Cuba con Venezuela y con los Estados Unidos.

George J. Borjas, el Profesor “Robert W. Scrivner” de Economía y Política Social de la escuela Kennedy de políticas públicas de la Universidad de Harvard dará la ponencia principal en honor a la memoria de Ernesto Betancourt durante el almuerzo del viernes 2 de agosto. Miembro de la prensa son bienvenidos sin tener que pagar la inscripción de la conferencia, aunque el almuerzo especial cuesta $50.

La Asociación para el Estudio de la Economía Cubana (ASCE) es una organización sin fines de lucro ni afiliación política radicada en el Estado de Maryland. Desde su fundación en 1990, ASCE ha tenido como su objetivo fundamental promover el estudio de los problemas económicos de Cuba en un sentido amplio, así como de las políticas a implementar para una futura transición a una economía de libre mercado en el contexto de una sociedad democrática. Con estos fines, ASCE promueve estudios, investigaciones y publicación de ponencias sobre la economía cubana, así como de las implicaciones de tipo social, legal, demográficas y políticas.
